

Lite Strategy Repurchases 13% of Outstanding Shares Since December, Increasing Litecoin Backing Per Share

Lite Strategy Buys Back Roughly 4.9 Million Shares at an Average Price of $1.11 with No Debt Incurred

SAN DIEGO, July 30, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Lite Strategy, Inc. (Nasdaq: LITS) ("Lite Strategy" or the "Company"), the first U.S. public company to adopt Litecoin (LTC) as its primary treasury reserve asset, today announced that since it commenced utilization of its Share Repurchase Program (the "Program") in December 2025 and through July 17, 2026, it has repurchased approximately 4.9 million shares of its common stock, or 13% of the shares outstanding at the time the Program commenced. The Company deployed approximately $5.4 million at an average price of $1.11 per share and funded the repurchases entirely through its active treasury operations.

"Our stock has traded well below the value of the Litecoin behind it, and we opted to not sit passively on this gap," said Jay File, CEO and CFO of Lite Strategy. "At our NAV levels, we believe repurchasing shares is among the highest-conviction capital allocation decisions available to the Company, and that it reflects an alignment between market conditions and long-term stockholder interests. Using the proceeds from selling a measured portion of our Litecoin treasury asset to repurchase these shares at a substantial discount to NAV has effectively allowed us to monetize the discount, and, in return, it leaves more Litecoin behind each remaining share. That is what prudent and disciplined active treasury management produces."

Lite Strategy commenced the program when its shares were trading at a discount to the net asset value ("NAV") of the underlying Litecoin treasury asset, which reached the low 40% range during the repurchase period. By repurchasing shares at prices below NAV, each repurchase increased the amount of LTC supporting every remaining share of common stock. Through the program, that discount has narrowed to below 25%. As of July 17, 2026, Lite Strategy holds 819,070 LTC against 31,882,648 shares outstanding.

Lite Strategy financed the program entirely from treasury operations consisting of Litecoin sales and covered call premiums. At a moment when many other digital asset treasury companies are borrowing against their crypto holdings to fund buybacks, Lite Strategy's balance sheet continues to carry no debt.

"The buyback program reflects exactly what disciplined digital asset treasury management looks like: low operating cash burn, pure Litecoin exposure, and a concrete mechanism for returning value to stockholders without compromising the core position," said Joshua Riezman, Board Member and Chief Strategy Officer of GSR. "Having management implement this strategy while the Company trades significantly below NAV levels is to our stockholders' advantage. Our stockholders end up owning a larger portion of the treasury without spending operational cash, without dilution and without the Company taking on leverage."

Lite Strategy intends to continue the repurchase program for as long as it remains value accretive to stockholders. The Company plans to keep funding buybacks through active treasury management only, preserving its low-burn operations and debt-free status, while continuing to pursue additional ways to grow Litecoin backing per share and build out the broader Litecoin ecosystem. The Company ended fiscal year 2026 with cash of $5.7 million and total liabilities of $1.1 million.
